

Strength for families. Support for parents and children.

Every parent hopes their children will be safe, happy and productive members of society. Sometimes, behavior or emotional problems, troubles in school or with the law, or family life in general make us wonder whether our children will achieve the life we envision for them.

The way we help kids in times like these is being transformed. Barriers to services are coming down, and families are being given a voice, a choice, and an opportunity to change the course of their children's lives.

We will connect you with community partners who will collaborate with you and your child to develop a personalized plan that meets your family's needs. We can help address any issues confronting you and your family – from basic needs, to health care and behavioral counseling, to educational and afterschool needs – and so much more. All supports provided are free of charge.

BEST OF ALL, THERE'S NO "RED TAPE" TO GETTING STARTED. JUST CALL 401-467-6855.
